

Publishing Agreement for Authors in an Edited Work

HB_UAV:C2011107040551013317915054eb74b0f79ac79.20359828:53

of the Work: Handbook of Unmanned Aerial Vehicles

edited by Kimon P. Valavanis and George J. Vachtsevanos

The following agreement has been approved by and entered into between Vladimir Dobrokhodov, Prof.

Naval Postgraduate School
699 Dyer, Halligan Hall, Bldg 234
Monterey, CA 93943
USA

(hereinafter called the Author) on the one part and Springer Science + Business Media B.V., Dordrecht (hereinafter called Springer) on the other part.

When the Author is more than one person the expression "the Author" as used in this agreement will apply collectively unless otherwise indicated.

§ 1 Rights Granted

As a result of previous negotiations with the Editor(s), the Author undertakes to prepare for publication by Springer (a) Contribution(s) provisionally entitled:

- »Kinematics and Dynamics of Fixed Wing UAVs« (entry type: "Essay"; due: March 31, 2012; id: 00053) comprising 8000-10,000 words, including necessary illustrations.

The Author hereby grants and assigns to Springer the sole right to print, publish, distribute and sell throughout the world the said Contribution(s) and parts thereof, including all revisions, versions or updates and future editions, in all forms and media of expression – such as in its electronic form (offline, online) – now known or developed in the future, as well as to translate, print, publish, distribute and sell the Contribution(s) in any foreign languages and throughout the world.

Springer will take, either in its own name or in that of the Author, any necessary steps to protect these rights against infringement by third parties. It will have the copyright notice inserted into all editions of the Work according to the provisions of the Universal Copyright Convention (UCC) and dutifully take care of all formalities in this connection, either in its own name or in that of the Author.

§ 2 Delivery and Acceptance of the Contribution(s)

The Author agrees to deliver the manuscript(s) prepared according to the Instructions for Authors to the responsible Editor(s) not later than the date indicated in §1.

The manuscript(s) meets the terms of this agreement only if it satisfies the agreed stipulations as to form, content, and size. The Author is responsible for correctness of the manuscript(s), including content, language, and formal presentation.

Springer is entitled to carry out editorial changes on the manuscript(s) within the usual limits. This is intended especially to enhance the uniform overall organization and form of the Work. Any significant changes in content require the approval of the Author.

The Author warrants that the Contribution(s) is/are original except for such excerpts from copyrighted works (including illustrations, tables, and text quotations) as may be included with the permission of the copyright holder thereof, in which case(s) the Author is required to obtain written permission and to indicate the precise source. Springer has the right to permit others to use individual illustrations within the usual limits.

The Author warrants that the Contribution(s) has/have not heretofore been published in whole or in part, that it/they contain(s) no libelous statements and does/do not infringe on any copyright, trademark, patent, statutory rights or proprietary rights of others; and that he will indemnify Springer against any cost, expenses or damages for which Springer may become liable as a result of any breach of this warranty.

§ 3 Corrections

The Author will proofread the page proofs, check the illustrations and give his approval for printing. The Author's approval for printing is considered given if he does not respond within a suitable period of time after receiving the proofs. Proofs are sent to enable the Author to check that his manuscript(s) has/have been properly set in type and to allow him to correct any typographical or draftsmen's errors. The costs resulting from other changes made exceeding 10% of the total cost of typesetting (or reproducing in the case of illustrations) will be charged to and paid for by the Author.

Proof-reading is not necessary if a camera-ready manuscript is delivered.

§ 4 Author's Copy

The Author is entitled to receive free access to the online version of the Handbook.

Furthermore, the Author is entitled to purchase for his personal use (directly from Springer) books published by Springer at a discount of 33 1/3% off the list-price. Resale of such copies or of free copies is not permitted.

§ 5 Competing Works

The Author agrees not to release any rival publication with another publisher which may reduce sales of this Work. He agrees not to publish excerpts of this Work or to contribute in any other similar work, which may act as a competing publication to this one without prior written consent of Springer. The Author retains the right to communicate with other scientists about this Work, to share the Work with them in manuscript form and to use the content for non-commercial internal and educational purposes provided the Springer publication is always mentioned as the original source.

§ 6 Subsidiary Rights

Springer has the sole right to grant licences for special editions of the Work or of parts thereof in the original or abridged form (e.g., paperback, book club, or microfilm editions, inclusion in collected works or in an anthology, advance printing or reprints in periodicals, etc.), as well as licences for translation into other languages and for use on radio, television, and audiovisual products, as well as for electronic data processing (including programming, storage and transmission to other electronic data records). Any licence fees from the sale of such rights will be equally divided between the Editor(s) and Authors on the one hand and Springer on the other. The Editor(s) and the Authors will decide together how the royalties are to be divided between them.

Any publisher's proceeds from subsidiary rights managed by national copyright organizations are the sole property of Springer.

The printing plates or films of the illustrations prepared at the expense of Springer remain the exclusive property of Springer.

§ 7 New Editions

In the event of subsequent editions or updates, they will be published by Springer. Once notified by Springer that a new edition is deemed necessary, the Author agrees to deliver an updated manuscript, ready for printing, together with the material for any new illustrations, within nine months of such notification. Substantial changes in the nature or size of the Contribution require the approval of Springer.

If the Author, for whatever reason, is unwilling or unable to submit an updated manuscript or does not do so within a period of nine months after being notified by Springer that a new edition is necessary, then Springer is entitled to reprint the previous edition or to designate one or more individuals to prepare this and all future editions. In this case, the Author does not participate in preparing future editions. The Author or his beneficiaries thus relinquish all claims to royalties from any further versions or editions of the Work.

§ 8 Entire Agreement

This agreement shall be deemed to be made under and shall be interpreted in accordance with the laws of the Netherlands.

To signify their agreement to the terms outlined herein, both parties have signed and exchanged this duplicate contract.

The Contributor(s)

Springer Dordrecht

Vladimir Dobrouhatov

date

11/10/11

date